Maria's day starts early. She wakes up at 6:30 AM and gets ready for work. First, she takes a shower and gets dressed. Today, she wears a blouse, black pants, and comfortable shoes because the weather forecast says it will be warm and sunny.

She has breakfast at 7:15 AM – usually toast, eggs, and coffee. Then she leaves her apartment and walks to the bus stop. The bus arrives at 7:45 AM, and she takes it to downtown, where she works in a small technology company.

Maria arrives at work around 8:30 AM. Her job involves helping customers with computer problems. She enjoys her work because she likes helping people and is good with technology.

At 12:30 PM, she takes her lunch break. Today, she goes to a nearby restaurant with her coworkers. She orders a chicken salad and iced tea. The food is delicious but a bit expensive. The total bill is $14.50, and she pays with her credit card.

After lunch, Maria returns to work until 5:00 PM. Then she takes the bus home. On the way, she stops at a grocery store to buy food for dinner. She buys some vegetables, pasta, and fruit. The vegetables are on sale this week – they're cheaper than usual. Everything costs about $15.

At home, Maria cooks dinner and eats around 6:30 PM. After dinner, she calls her mother on the phone to chat. Then she watches TV or reads a book. Sometimes she studies English or practices yoga.

Before bed, she checks the weather forecast for tomorrow. It says there's a chance of rain, so she puts an umbrella in her bag. She goes to bed at 10:30 PM, ready to start another day tomorrow.
